- Extra Hitter (EH) – If both teams have an extra male player and no female extras, and both teams agree, the player can be used as an extra hitter

An EH is a player who is hitting in #11th or #12th spot. He or she may enter the game as a regular defensive player at any time and at any position. He/she may be substituted for and re-entered just as any other starting player in the lineup.

- Designated Hitter (DH) – A designated hitter for a specific position is a hitter only and will not be allowed to enter the game as a defensive player including pitching.
- Pitching Speed. For the benefit of female hitters all pitchers must throw at ½ speed hitable. Knuckle balls are allowed. Pitchers are not required to “just lay it in there”.

Starting pitchers, upon removal, may not re-enter the game as a pitcher. They may continue as a player in another position but not re-enter as a pitcher regardless of injury, fake or actual, to the relief pitcher. Pitching style is considered ASA legal modified or slight arch permissible, similar to low, slow, pitch. No slingshot pitching allowed. All pitchers must start with two feet on the rubber, back foot may toe the rubber, this is permissible. The rear foot is not allowed to be in non-contact with the rubber at the start of the pitch. This seems to have been an issue in the past with quite a few pitchers. It's up to the managers of each team to let the umpires know our pitching rules before the start of each game.

- Substitute Runners. The substitute used shall be considered a courtesy runner and the substitute used will be male for a male player and female for a female player and will be the one that made the last out for that gender.
